

Inksters Solicitors enhance their services on the Isle of Skye

Inksters Solicitors who have an office at 1 Wentworth Street in Portree have recently launched a dedicated website for marketing property for sale on the Isle of Skye. The website is property.skye.com and follows the same style as Inksters' award winning Scottish property website scotsproperty.com.

Estate Agent

Brian Johnston, who stays in Sleat, joined Inksters last year after four years working with other Estate Agencies on the Isle of Skye. Brian has plenty of practical experience of the challenging housing market and provides an exceptional service including accompanied viewings and sales negotiations. Brian has an unwavering commitment to his clients and his enthusiasm, dedication and knowledge of his area gets results time and time again.

From his base on the Isle of Skye Brian can cover a large area for Inksters: north to Ullapool, east to Inverness and south to Oban. He will also travel throughout the Hebrides as required.

Forward Thinking Estate Agency Services

Inksters are already well known throughout Scotland for their forward thinking estate agency services. These include property listings on a wide range of websites. In addition to property.skye.com, scotsproperty.com and inksters.com properties for sale through Inksters on the Isle of Skye are listed at onthemarket.com, zoopla.co.uk, nestoria.co.uk, trovit.co.uk, gspc.co.uk, espc.com and sspc.co.uk.

Inksters were the first Estate Agents in Scotland to use Twitter to market properties for sale when they launched @scotsproperty. Now they are also using Twitter to specifically market properties for sale on the Isle of Skye with @property.skye.

Inksters' own websites allow visitors to request a schedule, arrange a viewing or submit a note of interest online. Home Reports can be downloaded by interested parties online.

Inksters use one non geographic telephone number to handle all estate agency enquiries and do so from 9am to 9pm weekdays and between 10am and 4pm at weekends. Thus they are open longer than many other estate agents enhancing the chance of selling your home.

Conveyancing Services

Solicitor Eilidh Ross MacLellan heads up Inksters' Portree office and deals with conveyancing on a day to day basis. Whether you are selling or buying a property Eilidh will be able to guide you through the process and ensure your conveyancing transaction runs smoothly.

Crofting Law

Inksters are well known crofting law experts and Eilidh Ross MacLellan has specialised in this area of the law throughout her career. She also works, together with her husband, a croft in Camustianavaig. Brian Inkster and Martin Minton who are based in Inksters' Glasgow HQ also specialise in crofting law. They all contribute to an informative blog on the topic at croftinglawblog.com and tweet at @croftinglaw. Inksters run a crofting law helpline for the Scottish Crofting Federation so if you are a member you will qualify for 15 minutes of free advice and 10% off your legal fees.

Other Legal Services

Inksters have a team of solicitors able to assist you with a wide range of legal matters including commercial law, employment law, family law, dispute resolution, civil and criminal court, powers of attorney, wills and executries. All of these services can be accessed via Inksters' Portree office but in some cases work may be handled by specialists from Inksters' other offices.

Forward Thinking Law

Inksters was formed in 1999 by Shetlander, Brian Inkster, to provide legal services for clients in Shetland from Glasgow. Since then the firm has expanded to provide services Scotland wide by an ever growing team from offices in Glasgow, Inverness, Wick and Portree with a visiting base still in Lerwick.

Inksters are renowned for their use of technology to facilitate working in remote areas of Scotland and linking those areas with support from the Glasgow HQ. Inksters were a very early adopter of cloud technology and, as has already been mentioned, social media.

Investors in People

Investors in People is a management framework for high performance through people. Investors in People optimise performance by championing best practice in people management and equipping organisations with the tools to succeed. Inksters utilise this framework and achieved Investor in People status in 2000 and have maintained the standard every three years since.

Award Winning Law

Inksters are an award winning law firm. At the Law Awards of Scotland: Brian Inkster was Solicitor of the Year in 2006 and Managing Partner of the Year in 2014; Louise King was Trainee Solicitor of the Year in 2011; Inksters were Corporate Social Responsibility Law Firm of the Year in 2012 and won the prestigious Chairman's Award in 2013. In other award ceremonies Inksters have won an Innovation Award, Web Award, Valuable Content Award and most recently an Arts & Business Scotland Placemaking Award for taking Scottish Ensemble to Shetland in the Summer of 2013.

Pop-Up Law

Inksters do not just confine themselves to their various offices in Glasgow and the Highlands and Islands. Solicitors from the firm can often be found out and about at events such as the Black Isle Show and the Royal Highland Show. They also make special trips to visit clients at home throughout the Highlands and Islands.
